

In commemoration of the 60th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights

The Center for the Study of Catholic Social Thought

Presents the

Monsignor Charles Owen Rice Lecture Series through the McGinley Endowment

Refugee Rights and the Transnational Good:

Global Challenges and Catholic Social Teaching

David Hollenbach, S.J., Ph.D.

University Chair in Human Rights and International Studies
Boston College

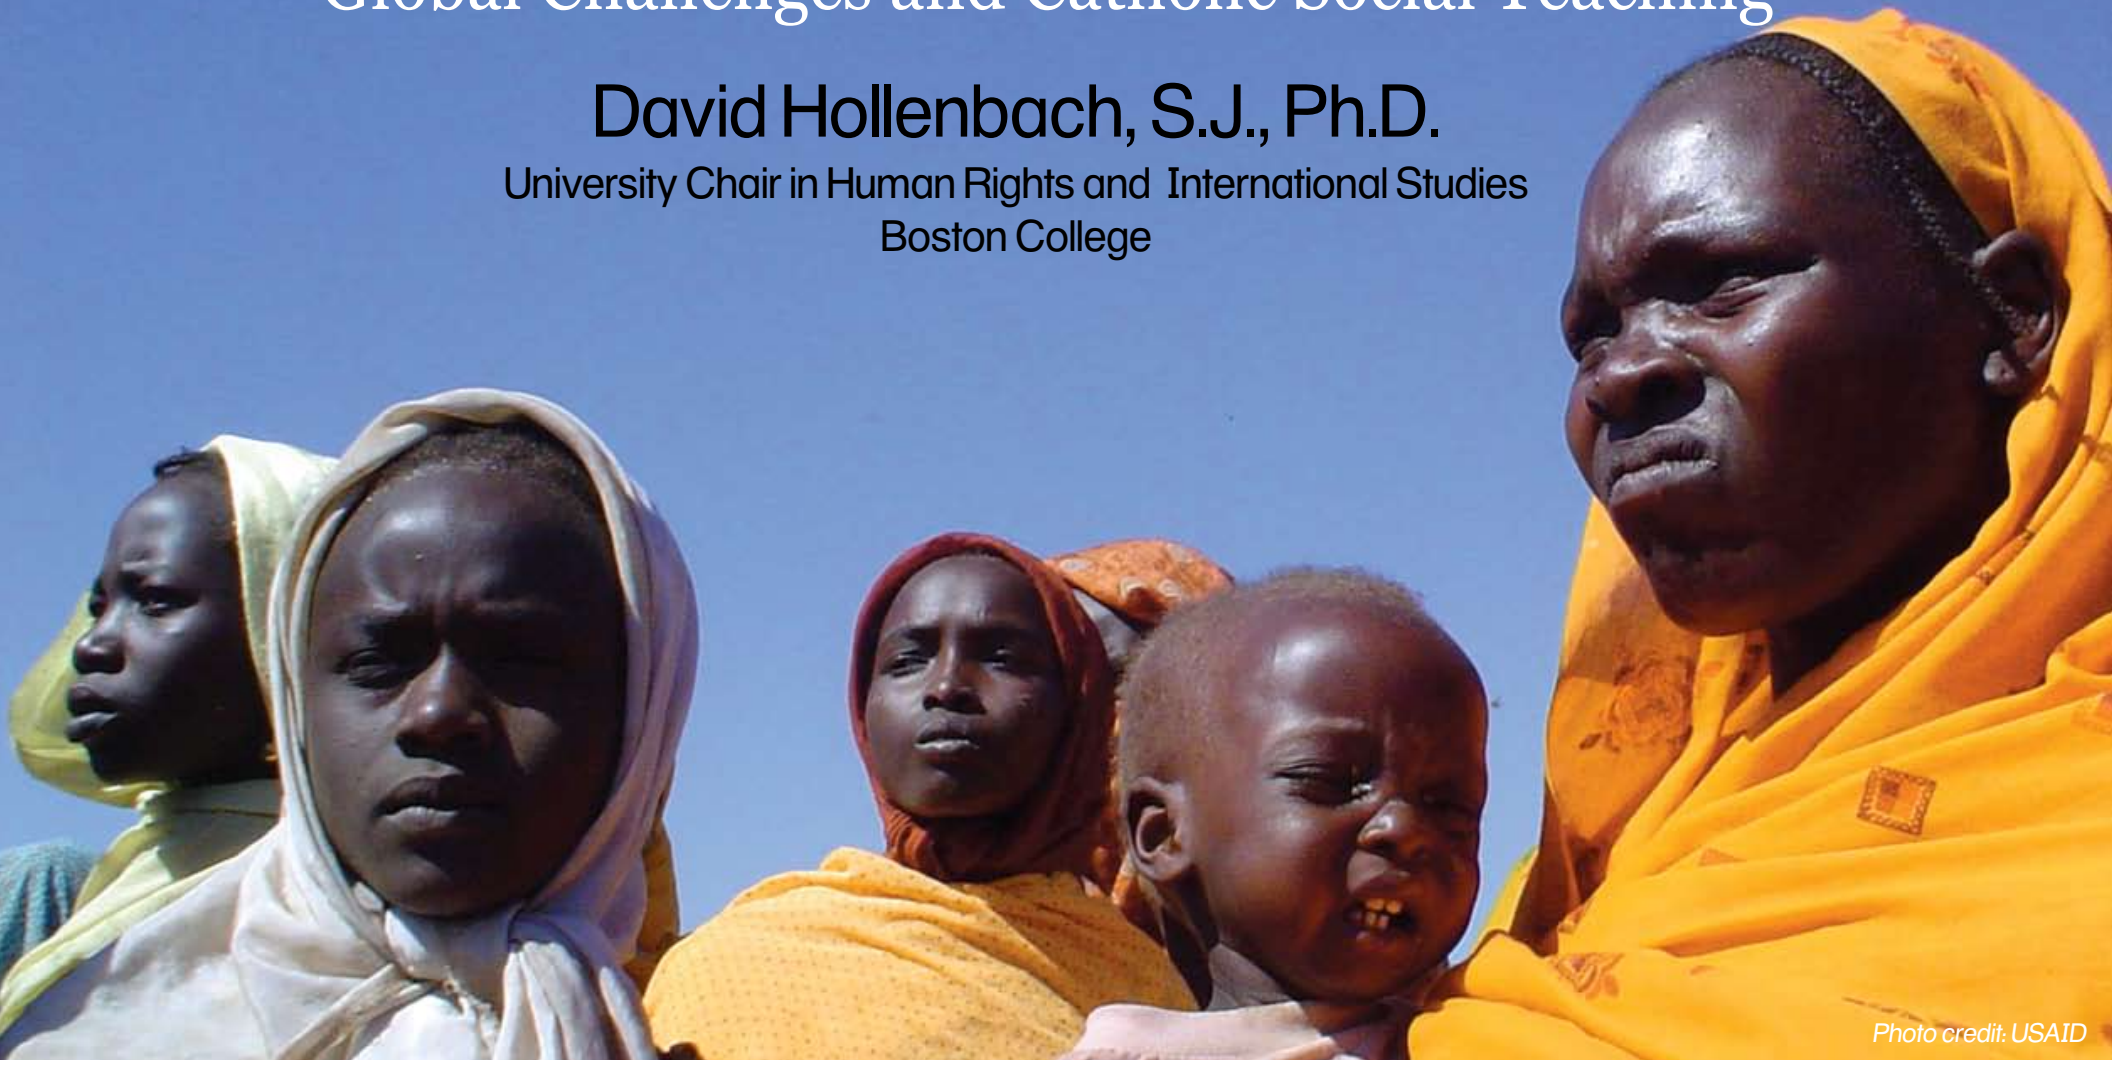

Photo credit: USAID

Thursday, March 26, 2009
Duquesne Room, Duquesne University

- 4:00 – 5:15 p.m.
Lecture and Q&A
  - 5:15 – 5:45 p.m.
Book signing: “Refugee Rights: Ethics, Advocacy and Africa”
Informal reception
- Video Presentation/Photo Gallery before & after the lecture

Admission is free and open to the public. www.duq.edu/cst

Over 50 million people in the world today have been driven from their homes by war, oppression and environmental changes due to global warming and hunger. What are the human rights of these people, and how should we respond in light of justice and the common good?

DUQUESNE
UNIVERSITY